SAI – Social Accountability International is undertaking a full revision of the SA8000 Standard for decent work. SA8000 is SAI flagship certification program of SAI to advance human rights for workers around the world. It was established in 1997 as the first auditable labor standard.

IQNet Ltd is one of the leading SA8000 certification bodies, accredited since 2007.

As per SAI announcement “the purpose of this revision is to ensure that the SA8000 Standard continues to serve as a leading benchmark for ethical workplaces at all levels of the value chain, reflecting evolving human rights risks and good practices”.

The draft standard is open for public comment, between September 16 to November 15, 2024. The consultation information and feedback form can be accessed on SAI Website here.

To support the standard revision process, SAI is organizing an extensive series of free Webinars in English, Bengali, Chinese Mandarin, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish. Registration can be made on SAI Website here.

The publication of the standard is expected for early 2025.
